

PACIFIC ALLIANCE FOR CATHOLIC EDUCATION

Catholic School Leadership Summer Institute

June 19-22, 2013

Strengthen your school leadership by spending four days on the beautiful University of Portland campus for the PACE Catholic School Leadership Summer Institute. School teams of 2-4 current leaders, staff and emerging faculty-leaders will:

- Delve into morning workshops focused on cutting-edge Catholic school academics led by national experts
- Engage in afternoon sessions on effective school branding, marketing and sustainable development, facilitated by faculty from the University's Pamplin School of Business
- Emerge with a concrete action plan for sustainable school development to implement in your school next fall
- Network with colleagues from the Archdioceses of Portland and Seattle, and PACE partner schools in AK, CA and UT
- Participate in the University of Portland Garaventa Center's concurrent national Catholic Education conference, including Thursday keynote by renowned author Thomas Groome, and Friday workshop sessions with a host of national speakers
- Receive a 700-level one semester-hour graduate credit at no additional cost
- Be provided meals, and on-campus housing if needed

Collaborate with national experts in branding, marketing, web media, long-range development, and latest curriculum strategies

Attend with a 2-4 member school leadership team: current leader, emerging teacher-leader(s) and staff in marketing/development

COST: $55 per person

Registration Deadline: May 31, 2013

Includes all workshop sessions and materials, Garaventa Center conference registration, meals, graduate credit, and on-campus housing, if requested.
