To: School Psychologists and Counselors, Principals, Teachers, Interventionists, Physicians, and Caregivers,

I hope this letter finds you well. My name is Dr. Fong Lau Johnson, and I am the Clinic Director and Clinical Assistant Professor in the School Psychology Program at University of Washington. I am reaching out to you because we have mental health services available for free and welcome your referrals. We provide the following:

- Counseling services to children 6-18 years old using evidence-based practice, and treat a wide range of childhood disorders and mental health issues
- Testing services to 6-18 year olds examining cognitive, academic, and socio-emotional concerns
- Specialty testing services for preschool-aged children

We will screen and determine the best form of treatment for each individual client and family. Services are provided by school psychology trainees, and are all supervised by a licensed psychologist/faculty member at the University of Washington. Attached is a flyer for you to share with relevant individuals. Please do not hesitate to contact me by e-mail at fongj8@uw.edu for further information. Confidentiality is strictly enforced in the Clinic.

Parents, guardians, or professionals of potential clients are asked to call our program coordinator (Monday – Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.) at 206-543-4970, who will ask for basic information (name and phone number) to be added to our client referral list. Once the potential client's information is obtained, one of our intake specialists will return the call to conduct a phone intake to determine whether the case is an appropriate fit for our training clinic. We look forward to working with you and please feel free to contact me directly with any questions.

Sincerely,

FREE COUNSELING for CHILDREN & ADOLESCENTS

The University of Washington's College of Education is offering free weekly therapy sessions for Children and Adolescents between the ages of 6-18. Those experiencing mental health issues (e.g. anxiety, depression, attention deficit), social skills difficulties, behavior problems, and/or adjustment to life stressors (e.g. parental divorce, death in the family, etc.) are examples of appropriate referrals, although we will assess for your individual needs. All free sessions are provided by School Psychology Trainees, and are all supervised by a licensed psychologist/faculty member. Parental commitment is essential in order to receive services.

We are located on the 4th floor of the College of Education (Miller Hall), and can start services in October.

For more information please call our clinic administrative assistant at (206) 543-4970 or Dr. Johnson directly at 206-543-2365.

Confidentiality is strictly enforced for all family and student information.

Use of Evidence-Based Practices is emphasized (i.e. Cognitive Behavior Therapy, Behavior Therapy).

FREE TESTING for SCHOOL-AGE CHILDREN

The University of Washington's College of Education invites you and your child to participate in the School Psychology graduate's assessment testing course. Children in Grades 1st through 12th will participate in testing in the Winter Quarter, January-March. The tests administered by graduate students (under the supervision of licensed psychologist/faculty), are designed to identify strengths, weaknesses, and learning disabilities that may be influencing the child's academic performance.

We are located on the 4th floor of the College of Education (Miller Hall), and provide testing services from mid-January through March.

Recruitment begins August 15th. For more information or to apply for participation, please call our clinic administrative assistant at (206) 543-4970 or Dr. Johnson directly at 206-543-2365.

Confidentiality is strictly enforced for all family and student information.
