

Catechetical Resources for Families of Children with Disability

Faith, Family, and Children with Special Needs: How Catholic Parents and their Kids with Special Needs Can Develop a Richer Spiritual Life

Rizzo, David Loyola Press, 2012. David Rizzo—whose 12-year-old daughter has autism—offers great hope for parents who want to grow in their own spirituality while helping their children with disabilities experience God in a deeper way. Rizzo's abiding though sometimes tested Catholic faith is made clear as he explains everything from the practical, such as how parents can maintain sanity during Mass when the child with special needs becomes disruptive, to the profound, such as how parents can understand God in a way that is relevant to their predicament. At other times, Rizzo's advice is intended to help the child grow in his or her own faith, as when he explains how kids with special needs can participate meaningfully in the Eucharist.

Children's Ministry Pocket Guide to Special Needs Quick Tips to Reach Every Child Group Publishing, 2008. Discover teaching techniques-plus tips for parents and other kids in the classroom. Rhythms of Grace: Worship and Faith Formation for Children and Families With Special Needs Morehouse Education Resources, 2010. Consists of scripture-based session plans, as well as the background material needed to establish a successful program. The program includes 12 monthly sessions (Sept. to Aug.) and 6 feast sessions, plus background material. Rhythms of Grace is a unique and innovative program resource designed to meet the spiritual needs of children and families living with autism spectrum disorders. Participant families gather monthly with program leaders and volunteers for sessions that are a hybrid of worship and faith formation. Rhythms of Grace helps children and their families feel at the center of a worship/formation experience that is specific to their needs and circumstances, rather than merely at the margins of a more conventionally "inclusive" program of worship or faith formation.

A Place for All: Ministry for Youth with Special Needs Barone, John, Saint Mary's Press, 2008. Every community has a growing population of young people with neurological differences. Too often, youth with conditions such as autism, Tourette's syndrome, and bipolar disorder find themselves left out of parish religious education and youth ministry programs. In the pages of this book you will find the following: Information about many of the neurological differences that affect young people Tips for educating the entire community about these differences Advice on how to reach out to youth with special needs Practical steps to modify your facilities to meet the needs of youth with neurological differences Training tools for empowering volunteers to work with special needs youth A Place for All opens a window into the challenging lives of children with neurological differences, the difficulties faced by the adults who work with them, and the shift in philosophy and methodology required for religious education professionals and volunteers.

Including People with Disabilities in Faith Communities: A Guide for Service Providers, Families, & Congregations

This course can also help hearing individuals who benefit from a more visual style of learning. In Sign Language. Spoken and captioned in English.

Children’s Storybooks

Douglas, The Boy Who Knew God McCarthy, Patricia, 2005. This is a story about a boy named Douglas. Douglas was born unable to move his arms and legs, and he lived in a large hospital. The people at the hospital loved Douglas and took care of him. Maria comes to the hospital on Sundays to teach the children about God and prayer. One day Douglas has the chance to teach Maria about prayer. As children listen to the story, they think about what they can thank God for.

Arnie and the New Kid Carlson, Nancy L., Picture Puffins, 1990. This is a story about Arnie and Philip. Philip is new at school and uses a wheelchair. Arnie teases him. Things change one day when Arnie needs help and Philip reaches out to him. As children listen to the story, they think about what it’s like to be Philip and how they might behave differently if they were Arnie.

Prayer for Inclusion

Creator God, we are your people. We look to the future with optimism and with faith in You, as we pursue our call to provide justice and fullness of life for all people with disabilities.

*We pray that every man, woman and child may develop their potential and meet You in themselves and in one another.
May we enjoy a totally welcoming community, with You as our center, joined hand in hand with our sisters and brothers.
We ask this in Jesus' name.*

Amen
