Questioning and Discussion: Deepening Student Thinking and Understanding While Building Classroom Communities of Inquiry

One Institute, Two Locations!

Holy Rosary Parish School, Edmonds: August 17th-18th, 2016

St. Michael Catholic School, Olympia: August 18th-19th, 2016

Learning Outcomes:

- Deepen personal understanding of the key dimensions of productive student discussion and its capacity to engage students of all abilities in extending their understanding of content.
- Become familiar with the "cycle of discussion," a tool for planning questions to prompt thinking, with structures to engage all, and scaffolds to deepen understanding.
- Assess three sets of skills (social, cognitive, and use-of-knowledge) requisite to student engagement in productive discussion.
- Explore three different forms of discussion - teacher-guided, structured small-group, and student-driven - and consider how each helps scaffold student skills and enables students to assume increased responsibility for learning through discussion.
- Apply the criteria for quality questions to craft discussions related to the unit plan template.
- Actively learn through participating in selected small-group structures, and reflect on the potential to engage all students more fully in learning standards-based content.

Presenters:

Jackie Acree Walsh

An independent educational consultant who partners with educators across the country to enhance teaching and leading in classrooms, schools and districts. Her experience spans work in K-12, higher education, a regional research laboratory, and a state department of education.

Beth Dankert Sattes

Consults through her business, Enthused Learning, primarily in the area of effective questioning in K-12 classrooms. She works with clients and staff of service centers, districts, schools, and departments of education, frequently facilitating adult learning and returning for follow-up.
